NOMINATE TONIGHT

DENVER, Colo., July 9.—Congressman Ollie James, floor leader for the Bryan element, stated while Chairman Clayton was speaking, that as soon as the preliminaries of the permanent organization are concluded, the convention will recess until 7 o'clock tonight. "Then we will adopt our platform and nominate Bryan," he said.

Convention in a Nutshell.

DENVER, July 9.—The session started at 11 today.

Permanent organization and speech by Chairman Clayton.

The platform upon which the planks are being nailed by the resolutions committee is to be presented and adopted by the convention probably late in the day.

There is a possibility of nominating speeches and a vote on a presidential candidate tonight.

Vice presidential situation still uncertain.

The total vote of convention is now 1,006, four being added to the roll through the increase in Oklahoma by the credentials committee.

The two-thirds vote necessary for choice of candidates therefore is 671.

(By John E. Nevin.)

DENVER, July 9.—The democratic "pile driver" as the friends of Col. Jim Guffey and Patrick McCarren have named the Bryan machine, was working very smoothly today. Its managers, Ollie James, Jim Dahlman and Temporary Chairman Bell, examined several ropes and fixtures prior to setting today's session of the convention in motion and declared them all right.

There was a rush to the auditorium long before 10 o'clock, one hour before the time fixed for the doors to open, despite the intense heat outside and the general belief that it will be several hours at least before the nomination is reached, the crowd piled into the building. The anxiety of the crowd, however, was not communicated to the delegates. Most of them slept late and arrived for the convention slowly.

Bright faced, well dressed women made up the bulk of the crowd. There was no sectionalism in this crowd. They cheered indiscriminately for first the northern, then southern air by the band.

The opening proceedings were considerably delayed, and it was long after 11 o'clock when Bell began his regular 10 minute struggle to restore order and check the confusion. Rabbi Emanuel Koch, Seattle, Wash., offered the opening prayer.

Bell recognized Delegate McWhistlen, Pennsylvania, who declared up to the present time he had been unable to secure badges and tickets for eight Pennsylvania delegates seated by the convention. Last night he declared all attempts to get admission tickets and badges had failed. Roger Sullivan declared he believed McWhistlen in error as the national committee had provided for the delegates. It finally ordered the eight men to be admitted and seated with the delegation.

Senator McCreary, Kentucky, was recognized to present the report of the committee on permanent organization. It named Clayton permanent chairman and made other temporary officers permanent. Bell then made a short speech of thanks for the treatment accorded by the convention and declared it an honor to the Pacific coast that will be appreciated by every one of those states. He was enthusiastically cheered.

McCreary of Kentucky, Nixon of New York and Judge Baker of California were named as a committee to escort Clayton to the chair.

As he started to speak, three little girls, garbed in stars and stripes, ascended the platform and presented him with a magnificent bouquet

SENATOR MORRIS NAMES COMMITTEES

PRES. OF NORMAL REGENTS MAKES THEM PUBLIC

PERSONNEL FOR THIS YEAR

Recently Elected Head of Educational Body Makes Public Choice After Careful Consideration

Senator Thomas Morris of this city, recently elected president of the state board of normal regents today announced the following committees of the board to hold office during the coming term, and copies of the list has been mailed to Madison:

Executive—Regents: Morris, McFarland and Crownhart.

Finance—Regents: Hamilton, Harrington and Ensign.

Courses of Study and Graduating Classes—Regents: McGregor, Youmans, Kronshage, Cary, Hamilton and Harrington.

Teachers' Institutes—Regents: Cary, McFarland and McGregor.

Inspection and Appropriation—Regents: Ensign, Crownhart, Horan and McFarland.

Teachers—Regents: Harrington, McGregor and Cary.

Libraries—Regents: Youmans, Kronshage and Cary.

of roses. This pleasing incident was followed by an outburst of clapping. Clayton gave each a kiss and this brought cries of "Hobson," from the audience. As soon as the noise died down Clayton began his speech.

Clayton's voice held out well. Although he was plainly suffering from the heat and the exertion, he could be distinctly heard all over the building as he concluded. His closing words were cheered enthusiastically by the galleries and delegates. A band in the gallery played "Dixie" and brought the delegates to their feet. As they did so the doors of the rear of the hall were thrown open and a marching club headed by bands marched through. It was the Jefferson club of St. Louis, carrying banners "Francis for vice president" and "Bryan and Dave Francis Spell Victory."

The delegates cheered lustily.

Raymond Robins made a pro-Bryan speech.

On demand of the Oklahoma delegate, Martin Littleton of New York was then called to speak. When he concluded, the names of the new national committee were read by the secretary.

Guffey Out

When the clerk read the name Guffey as Pennsylvania's new committeeman, a howl went up from the state delegation. When the roll was completed Clayton declared the place in Pennsylvania vacant as a result of last night's action of the convention until the state delegation shall meet to elect a successor to Guffey.

Kern of Indiana moved that a committee be appointed to ask the resolutions committee when it will be ready to report. Kern and Pace of Alabama and Mack of New York were appointed on the committee.

Kern reported the resolutions committee will be ready to report not later than 7 o'clock tonight.

On motion of Senator Grady of New York a recess was taken till that hour.

Adopt Planks.

The general subcommittee at a meeting this afternoon adopted four of the most important planks with reservations on the part of several members to the effect that they would carry on the fight against them. The redrafted railroad plank providing for valuation by the interstate commission, but omitting the word "physical" was adopted. The subcommittee also changed the original injunction plank so that it provides only that "injunctions should not issue in cases in which injunctions would not issue if no industrial dispute was involved."

BLOODSHED AT TABRIZ CONTINUES

ODESSA, July 9.—Rioting, bloodshed and merciless slaughter by Cossacks has broken out in Tabriz again today.

A food famine is the latest cause. Thousands of citizens this morning began a bread fight in the streets. Mobs raided the bakeries and provision houses. Soldiers charged them in answer to a hasty summons. Women and children joined in the rioting and fell with the men.

The casualties of the day will reach hundreds and no one can predict what the end will be.

WISCONSIN WILL VOTE FOR GRAY

HE IS VICE PRESIDENTIAL CHOICE OF BADGERS

MICHIGAN IS FOR DOUGLASS

However, Home State Will Not Support Shoe Man—New York Indicates No Choice Today

(By A. M. Brayton.)

DENVER, July 9.—(Special.)—The Wisconsin delegation is practically unanimously for Gray of Delaware for vice president. This was determined by an informal vote taken in a caucus of the delegation held on the roof garden of the Adams hotel today. At this caucus Wisconsin took the initiative in beginning its solution of its vice presidential problem, by appointing a committee to canvass and ascertain the opinions of the other delegations on this point. The committee consists of Delegation Chairman D. O. Conway, State Chairman H. H. Manson and Col. Geo. W. Bird of Madison. The committee will report the subject to the call of the chairman. The caucus showed little regarding second choice, as but one vote was taken and most of the Gray men gave no indication of their next choice.

Michigan for Douglass.

DENVER, July 9.—The Michigan delegation in caucus this morning voted in favor of ex-Gov. W. L. Douglass, of Massachusetts, for vice president. The committee was appointed to inform the Massachusetts delegates if they presented his name he would receive the support of Michigan. Massachusetts, however, is not going to name Douglass.

"Not three of our delegates would support him," said the leader. "He is very popular with the republicans, but not with the Massachusetts democrats."

Connecticut for O'Neil.

Connecticut delegates in caucus today decided Judge John J. Walsh, of Norwalk, should present the name of Archibald O'Neil for vice president. The delegation also adopted the unit rule on the vice presidency and decided against second choice, adopting a resolution pledging the delegation to "vote for O'Neil until nominated."

New York Has No Candidate.

The New York re-elected Norman E. Mack as national committeeman, and adopted the unit rule. It did not discuss the question of agreeing on a state candidate for vice president.

NAB MRS. GUNNESS; SHERIFF SKEPTICAL

LA PORTE, Ind., July 9.—The sheriff at Hillsdale, Mich., this morning telephoned to Sheriff Smutzer that he had captured Mrs. Belle Gunness, of her murder farm; was holding her pending advices from the local officers. They refuse to send an officer, declaring Mrs. Gunness lost her life in the flames which destroyed her home.

BRYAN NERVOUSLY AWAITING NEWS

NEBRASKAN VISIBLY EXCITED THIS AFTERNOON

HE HAS A STRANGE VISITOR

Aged Man Congratulates Him as the Second Most Popular Man in the United States.

(By A. M. Brayton.)

LINCOLN, Neb., July 9.—Bryan waited hourly at the farm for a dispatch from Denver telling of his nomination for the presidency. He showed the most marked signs of nervousness this morning, evidenced at any time in the pre-convention period. He spent almost the entire morning in telegraphic communication with his Denver chiefs. His interviews with the newspaper correspondents were extremely brief, and he hurried back to the tickers. But there were no other signs about the beautiful farm that its master stood on the brink of receiving the all-important announcement. Bryan's men are cutting and loading the second crop of alfalfa.

Bryan had a curious visitor this morning. He was William Tate, aged 80, of Edmunds, Oklahoma.

"Thank God, brother, I can shake hands with the most popular man in the United States next to Roosevelt," he said, bringing Bryan's hand.

"Well, it's good to be the next most popular man when the most popular man is not running," laughed Bryan.

He ushered the old man into the parlor and gave him a pebble which Mrs. Bryan picked up on the Sea of Galilee, and his visitor went away with tears of happiness in his eyes.

MILITIA SENT TO QUIET INDIANS

GUTHRIE, Okla., July 9.—A company of state militia was ordered this afternoon from Chandler to Henrietta to protect residents from the Snake Indians who are holding a corn dance at Hickory camp ground. The Indians are reported to have risen, and the situation is believed to be serious. Acting Governor Belamy will accompany the militia and learn the conditions for himself.

HITCHCOCK IS IN CONFERENCE TODAY

HOT SPRINGS, Va., July 9.—Frank Hitchcock, new chairman of the republican national committee, arrived today. He entered into conference with Taft and after the first stage it was stated there will be no announcement of the personnel of the executive committee for a week, but it is probable all will be members of the national committee, and will be chosen to represent the country at large.

INSURANCE COS. RE-ENTER STATE

JOHN C. SPOONER IS FIXING UP THE DETAILS

BALK AT $1,000 PENALTY

But This Will Have to Be Paid and La Follette Wins Another Bloodless Victory

MADISON, Wis., July 9.—(Special.)—A sensation has been caused by the leaking out today of information that the twenty-one life insurance companies which withdrew from the state on account of the drastic laws passed by the last legislature, are willing to come back, but are holding out against the payment of $1,000 penalty. The situation is largely due to the efforts of former Senator John C. Spooner, who is attorney for the Columbia National of Boston. Spooner is here for a week arranging with the insurance department, but the entire movement has been a secret and strenuous effort to make it keep it so until a settlement is reached.

The change of heart of the insurance companies is hailed as a peaceable victory for La Follette and the administration adherents, as against the stalwarts who are represented by Spooner and who used the passage of risk laws to denounce the half-breed acts.

The insurance department will not waive the demand for the payment of the penalty and the companies are expected to pay up and reenter within a few days.

NEW $300,000,000 LUMBER TRUST IS FORMED AT ST. LOUIS

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 9.—The finishing touches were given today by the committee appointed to work out the details of a three hundred million dollar combine of lumber companies. Next to the steel corporation and the Ray State Gas Company, it will be the largest financial institution in the country.

It is denied that it is a monopoly or that an increase of prices is contemplated.

F. E. Weyerhaeuser, son of the millionaire lumber king, heads the committee.

CHILD DIES ENROUTE FROM HOSPITAL

The five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hanson, Twenty-eighth and Main streets, died this morning at 10 o'clock. The little one was being taken to the home from the hospital in the ambulance and died on the way. The cause of the death was blood poisoning. Dr. Mary Houck was in attendance. The funeral arrangements are in the hands of Mr. Theodore Mannstedt. Interment will be made in the Oak Grove cemetery Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

ANALYSIS OF THE DEMONSTRATION

DEMOCRATIC REACTIONARIES ARE EMBITTERED

BOTH FACTIONS RESENT TAFT

Question of Which Candidate Has the Most to Overcome—Some Dems Would Defeat Commoner

(By A. M. Brayton.)

DENVER, Colo., July 9.—(Special.)—Today it is in vogue to analyze the Chicago and the Denver convention, and to differentiate between the two, and the basis of comparison is the character of the respective demonstrations.

Democratic noise is proverbial, and perhaps the accepted basis is faulty, but it may be utilized on the theory that habit is its own excuse.

To be fair two comparisons must be made, on the respective basis of duration and intensity as follows:

Based on duration: Bryan, Roosevelt, La Follette, Taft.

Based on intensity: La Follette, Bryan, Roosevelt, Taft.

As to duration, the figures are significant, they are as follows: Bryan, one hour 27 minutes; Roosevelt, 47 minutes; La Follette 20 minutes; Taft 15 minutes.

But demonstrativeness isn't an expression of sentiment only, and the meat is the malice of which the applause is but the froth. We must go beyond the effect, and find the cause, the prospects and platforms. The republicans, first by reason of their conventional face these conditions: a straddling platform, designed to propitiate both the conservatives and radicals, which has pleased neither, and the mechanically partisan republicans only are satisfied.

The democrats, by reason of their convention, face these conditions: a radical stand has fired the enthusiasm of the reformers to a high pitch and stirred deep resentment in the hearts of the reactionaries. The question is, will Taft lose more votes from both disgruntled extremes than Bryan will from one intensely embittered extreme. Strategically Bryan appears to have an advantage. Right or wrong he is consistent. He is his following's personal ideal, while Taft is an idol only by proxy. Bryan's platform appeals to republican radicals; Taft's makes no appeal to democratic conservatives and affronts the radicals of both parties. For success, Taft depends upon the strength of party ties, while Bryan's victory must come from the triumph of abstract principle over partyism. No one doubts that, at heart, the masses are for radicalism, as the wildness of the demonstration for Bryan, Roosevelt, and La Follette, and the indifference to Taft, and the violence of the progressive emotion suggests that there is need of a new cracker on the party whip.

At any rate it will take the democrats to beat Bryan this time, and it is the misfortune of the Nebraskan that some of them want to do it.

Is Your Baby Teething?

There is no need to dread baby's second summer—the trying teething period—just keep its system in condition to make teething easy and save sleepless nights.

Teethina
(Teething Powders)

was first used by Dr. C. J. McNeill, a graduate of Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, in his extensive and successful treatment of children's diseases incident to the teething and summer complaints—a standard remedy for over 40 years throughout the world. It not only relieves the elements recommended by the most advanced medical sciences as necessary for removing the cause of disease and keeping baby's system in condition to make teething easy.

In case of fever, irritability, colic, or any other ailment that may be caused by the teething process, the use of Teethina would have saved the child.

FIGHTING CZAR RULE.

Here is a text that do be preached

by some mighty orthodox republicans

of high place, and the sermon is a telling one. It is, "Down with czar rule in the house of representatives."

This text should be of unusual interest in Wisconsin, for this state

was the originator of the Insurrection. Congressman Cooper, of Racine, started the row years ago, and in the last session he and Nelson, also a Wisconsin congressman, renewed

the fight vigorously. It has now spread to other states, and has become so powerful as to threaten the prestige of Czar Cannon, whose re-election is in doubt. The cry has gone out across the breadth of the land to pledge congressmen to force

a revision of the rules, and in many cases to defeat the present speaker.

The Boston Advertiser, of whose republicanism it cannot be said that

"radicalism" has touched it, publishes the following strong editorial:

"The revolt against Cannon is described as a protest against 'one man power in congress.' That does not do the movement justice. It is really against an abuse of power in the house, by allowing one unwise man

to defy the plain will of the people.

And the reason why the popular demand is going up, all over the country, that Cannon be retired from the speakership, is because he has used

his power so insistently as to defy

when the sentiment of the whole country is for the enforcement of the laws the speaker of the house is known the country over as the man who has struggled to prevent every step of progress taken by the republican party. The platform adopted at Chicago represents fairly well a list of the things which Cannon has opposed. Tariff revision, federal supervision of corporations, the square deal for the humble citizen as against a greedy trust; these and others are sound republican doctrine, but they have all been anathema to Cannon. The very fact that the public demands a reform seems at times to have been sufficient to inspire Cannon with an unreasonable hatred of the proposition. His course, during the recent session, appeared to be inspired by the desire to show how easily he could defy, and compel the house to defy, every popular demand for legislation.

BELIEVE IN THE HEART!

Believe in the heart!

However admirable is a capable or brilliant mind; however enviable a skilled or art-touched hand, something still more good and beautiful lies in a true and generous heart.

For while the head may be lacking of appreciation and the hands underpaid for their dexterity, because of varying standards by which either is judged, the heart has the larger chance of being understood. Therefore, the sphere of its helpfulness is accordingly enlarged.

The being who is loved is the one who loves. The language best understood among men is that of the heart.

The main thing to be desired is more heart—more heart in our work, in our play and in our intercourse with the world around. There can never be too much. There is, alas! too little.

The tendency of the age is to make us hard-hearted. We live in a whirl. We can find little time for anything but our material interests.

Some are so keen on money-making that they willfully shut their hearts to any emotion that might stand in the way of success in business, no matter at what cost that success is obtained.

Others are so hard pressed in the struggle for existence that their whole energy is taken up in the fight for a bare livelihood. The world is so hard to them that it makes them hard to others.

Luxury, too, makes its worshippers hard.

A life devoted to frivolous amusement has a petrifying effect on the heart.

The gambling spirit binds an icy coating around the seat of kindly impulses and tender thoughts.

The need of these days is not greater opportunities for commerce and trade so much as larger realization of the possibilities latent in the fellowship of all mankind.

Material needs shape their own remedies. When commerce must be opened, it is. When waterways must be opened, they are. These are the world's appetite; and, when hungry and thirsty, food and drink are sought and found.

The higher and gentler side of human nature is more modest and less insistent in its demands. To make it part of our daily duty that no seeking of this kind remains unfulfilled is a nobler endeavor than the continual and overriding race for anything that can be classed as riches.

The more heart we put into our daily dealings, the more true satisfaction and lasting reward do we obtain.

The wider our sphere of influence, the more care should be devoted to seeing that only good is reflected therein. The narrower our sphere of life, the more heart we need to widen it.—Minneapolis Journal.

The fact that a big bundle of Tribunes thrown from an outboard train at the Marshfield station for distribution on the incoming Hatfield excursion train, "mysteriously disappeared" from the station platform before the arrival of the Hatfield train, naturally prevented their distribution as planned. It seems to be a sort of "Hidden Hand" affair.

The fact that Col. Guffey is a multi-millionaire oil man, affiliated with the Standard Oil trust, sheds some light upon his attacks upon Mr. Bryan.

The Injunctive Power.

Seeking redress for domestic troubles a negro woman who resembled nothing so much as she did the "before taking" half of an anti-fat remedy, appeared at the office of one of the local judges a few days ago.

"Use a wronged woman," she hissed in a give-me-back-those-papers-Jack-Dalton voice. "Ah wants redress."

"What's the trouble?" inquired the sympathetic judge.

"It's 'bout mah ole man. He's done been caayin' on high wif a lot uv deese young niggah gals, an' it's got so baad twill I don't see him more'n once a week. Somepin's got 't' be done."

The judge's eye held a crafty gleam. "You are seeking a divorce—a legal separation?" he questioned.

"Go 'long man! Divo'ce nothin'. Think I'm gwine 't' gin 'im what he wants and 'low dat man who, dispite all his cussedness, is de hand-somest niggah in Willow Tree valley 't' go skyhootin' roun' mong dem gals? Na, sah. I doan want no divo'ce ner dat legal separation yer's talkin' 'bout. What I wants is an injunction!"—Washington Star.

SPOTLIGHTS

A common custom known throughout the south, "A Carolina Feud," in the form of a drama, will be presented by the Van Dyke & Eaton company at the La Crosse theater. The play has many strong scenes and one that pleases both old and young.

Friday night "The Pulse of New York" will be the bill.

"Amateurs" contest will again be given on Saturday night, and will include Miss Mildred Latimore, Marguerite and Gladys LaMay and others.

John Mayer, 411 South Eighth street, held the lucky number and pleased the audience by going on the stage to capture his prize, which he accomplished in artistic style.

BRYAN AND THE "BOSSSES"

The outpour of discredited democratic "bosses" against Mr. Bryan's "interference in state politics" is not calculated to arouse any degree of public sympathy, in view of the fact that Mr. Bryan's "interference" has been confined to counseling democrats to place men in control of their organization that may be trusted to support democratic policies and whose activities do not give the lie to the party's professions.

It would be much easier for Mr. Bryan to avoid any unpleasant discussion with the gangsters and take them to his bosom and "consecrate" their activities and boodle to the cause of the people. But Mr. Bryan is looking ahead to the time when the democratic party shall come into power and he does not desire that the victory shall be an empty one for the people. It is necessary for him, then, to arouse democrats to the necessity of ridding their organizations from the influence of men and interests that would make a democratic victory merely a change of administrations and officeholders without any material change in policies of government—which would leave the predatory interests in undisturbed possession of their privileges.

The spectacle, then, of such men as Guffey, the Pennsylvania "boss," frothing at the mouth in denouncing Bryan for "ingratitude" in refusing to make terms with the old gangsters and instead fighting them in the open, is a tribute to Mr. Bryan's sincerity that hardly will be lost upon the voters.

Harmony in a political campaign is desirable and in a sense essential to a party's immediate purpose, but it should not come at a sacrifice of its principles of sincerity.

THE DEAD AND WOUNDED

The Tribune's preliminary and incomplete summary of Fourth of July casualties, printed yesterday, aggregated fifty-six killed and 1,899 injured. The number of deaths was greater than in the first report for any year since 1899, when the keeping of records began. The number of persons more or less seriously hurt is smaller than in any year since 1901.

There is some consolation in that, for it affords hope that the number of those whose injuries finally prove fatal will not be so great as in preceding years.

There are many casualties which have not been reported. The full ghastliness of the insane Fourth of 1908 has not been revealed.—Chicago Tribune.

AT THE DENVER CONVENTION

Denver is very gay socially during the present convention week. Many of the most prominent social leaders of the country are there and there is social excitement every minute. Automobile parties are particularly popular. In the present picture at the left is shown Mrs. Norman E. Mack, wife of the popular Buffalo editor and national committee-man from New York state. At her side is Mrs. John Osborne.

I knew that the mother in ambush lay— As mothers do, it seems— To carry the prettiest girl away

Away to the land of dreams. By Jove!
To the wonderful land of dreams.

But the cherry-like lips of the pretty miss, Alas, were a tempting sight, And I ventured to beg for a tiny

Five-year-old Tommy was being put through a test in numbers before the admiring family, one day at dinner. Finally, papa asked him the question that had proved the Waterloo of the older children in past years:

"Five fruits!" promptly answered Tommy.—Delineator.

Not His Fault

A first grade boy brought perfect spelling papers home for several weeks, and then suddenly began to miss five and six out of ten.

THE IRON LORD

A Hitherto Unpublished Story of Immense Power.

By

S. R. CROCKETT.

(Copyrighted.)

The other two were the Reverend

John Fowler of the Free Kirk, and

the Reverend Benjamin Irongray, of the Kirk of the Martyrs. These were friends and consorted much together

The elder, John Fowler, was a married man with a growing family. Mr.

Irongray was still a bachelor. They abused each other frankly and theo-

logically, bandying such names as

Brownist and Calvinist; but they loved

each other dearly.

They met for choice in the manse

of the bachelor, a still and untroubled

place, far from the scuffle of the nursery, and with no smell, either of cooking or washing, in the corridors

and staircases. The Cameronian church of Kirkcaldy was almost as solitary as the Episcopalian, but historically

there was a difference in the tradition.

The Reverend John Foster was a tall, dreamy-eyed enthusiast, crowned with a fluff of silken blond hair,

through which he swept his fingers

with a quick, nervous movement. He spoke slowly, with an intonation

sweet and a little mournful, quicken-

ing now to unexpected enthusiasm and anon dropping unfinished into quiet and pensive silences.

This day the Free Kirk minister's daughter, Janet, went steadily up the brae. Miss Fowler had a basket in one hand, in which something snug-

ged, carefully covered with a white napkin. If you had been able to touch that basket, you would have found it pleasantly warm. In fact,

the basket contained hock soup in a little aluminum saucepan, together with a good ration of cold beef, potatoes and vegetables.

"Merely a parson's daughter playing Lady Bountiful cheaply," the uninstructed might have said—that is,

if they had not belonged to Kirk-

town. But the village and the Pits knew better. It was a rough, reckless place, with the tall chimneys and

whirling cage-wheels held up bar-

renly against the sky, and its double shift of pitmen, night and day pouring up from the bowels of the earth,

and dropping sullenly down. But

Kirkcaldy knew the value of its ministers—and of their daughters. Not all these merits were patent, however. For it did not guess, the blinds were drawn aside to watch

the progress of "Minister Fowler's lass," that in order to carry that supply to Widow McTurk, Janet

had to go hungry herself, to skip her hungry, growing, growling

brothers, and even pare regrettably

at the portion of her father as it went on the plate for him to say grace

over.

Such, however, was the case.

Janet Fowler was not beautiful,

though she was young. She had a plain, kindly, pleasant face, in which a pair of steady grey eyes shone with a consistent outlook firmness on all the world—on her father, who

LAKE CITY WANTS CONCERN

But Does Not Offer as Desirable a Location as La Crosse; Carnival
Interferes With Meeting

The North Side Progressive league met last night at their regular monthly session in the Woodmen hall on Rose street. There was a rather small attendance owing to the fact that the carnival attracted a great many of the members.

The meeting was called to order by President Miller at about 8:45. The minutes of the last meeting were read and the committees were asked to report. L. E. Lavaque, chairman of the railroad committee, said that the Milwaukee freight office was not closed as was thought at the last meeting and that the story was without foundation.

George Kingsley was asked in regard to the Minniska boat builder, Abrams, and he stated that Mr. Gray who was to be here with his proposition was unable to make connections and couldn't put in an appearance. Mr. Lavaque suggested that the upstairs of the old Vote-Berger plant on the north side would be an excellent location for a plant such as Mr. Abrams wants to start as it is near the river and has light, heat and power. A runway could be easily built down to the river.

Lake City has been after Mr. Abrams but the facilities are so poor that he doesn't care to take their offer of a $3,000 bonus, according to a rumor. The city then petitioned the Milwaukee road to build a spur track, but the plan didn't go through for some reason. Mr. Kingsley thinks that La Crosse is the best location that has been offered yet. The company could certainly do a good business and one La Crosse business man has already ordered a boat from him or expects to order one soon.

George Bingham failed to show up with his corset factory proposition so the matter will be brought up at the next meeting.

Cards with the different committees' names on them were passed around and every one thought the idea a good one.

South Side Turns Out a Large Number of Visitors and Jam Threatened Once to Become Serious

The North side was a scene of excitement last night when great crowds thronged the streets and the air was filled with the shouts of the barker and the laughter of a joyous multitude. The street cars were packed and the South side turned out in large numbers to see the North side carnival that finally got under way last evening.

Every one thought the big free attractions were fine and when the big aerial act was pulled off about 10 o'clock the immense crowd jammed and pushed to get up where they could see the performance.

There was a crush in front of Lavaque's store that threatened to become serious for a while, but it gradually receded and the police finally broke it up after several "Merry Widows" had been crushed and a number of corns been trampled on.

Probably the best attraction that has been here for some time was pulled off when the big free performance took place last night. The 3 Carriers did their acts in fine style and every one heartily applauded them. The rest of the attractions all had a good patronage, the tents being crowded to the ropes in many cases.

This evening even a larger crowd than last evening is expected to turn out to see this big event of the year.

DENVER'S PLANS STRIKINGLY MADE

DAY IN THE BIG AUDITORIUM SHOWS DETAILED WORK

CONVENTION HALL A WONDER

Is Probably One of Finest Equipped Buildings for Big Gatherings in the Country

(By A. M. Brayton.)

DENVER, July 9.—It took a day in the immense auditorium to permit of a full realization of the completeness of Denver's preparation to receive the convention guests. If the street and hotel decorations are magnificent, the arrangement and dressing of the auditorium are more so. The members of the democratic national committee on arrangements have said that the new auditorium is the most perfect convention hall they ever saw. Great care has been exercised in arranging seats in the building. Special attention has been paid to the first floor, as this will be the scene of the activities of the convention.

To begin with, it should be understood that the auditorium is constructed so that the huge stage is near the center of the building. Built on this plan, one-half of the structure can be used as a theater, the other half being shut off by the flies, and wings of the stage. On the occasion of a big convention the stage scenery and equipment can be elevated to a storage roof and the entire building converted into a big convention hall, with a balcony circling the whole structure and a gallery at both ends. This will be the plan for the democratic national convention.

In preparation for the democratic convention the rostrum and platform are built at the west side of the auditorium, with the seats for delegates and alternates extending along the floor of the theater part of the house, and, therefore, cuts off some of the regular seating space devoted to the public. However, this space is not lost, for the reason that it is equalized on the Champa street side.

Seats 11,538 People.

The exact number of seats in the auditorium under present arrangements is 11,538, but in a pinch more than 12,000 people can be accommodated. On the first floor alone there are 6,072 regular seats.

Upon the platform there are 445 seats which will be reserved for members of the national committee and for guests of honor. The number of seats on the rostrum is 101. Directly in front of the rostrum are six tables for noiseless telegraph instruments of the Associated Press, Hearst service, United Press, Postal Telegraph company, Western Union Telegraph company and the American Telephone and Telegraph company. Additional room for the news services of the telegraph companies is provided in the basement.

Press Stands.

Desks and seats for newspaper correspondents and special writers are arranged in a half circle about the rostrum in such a manner as to give each writer an unobstructed view of speakers, and within easy hearing distance. There are 303 seats in this section, each seat having a space of twenty-four inches wide, but arrangements are made to add from 75 to 100 more press seats if necessary. The desk of Col. John I. Martin, sergeant-at-arms, and the desk of his private secretary will be in this section, near the rostrum.

DENVER SUB COMMITTEE ON ARRANGEMENTS

Members of the sub-committee on arrangements of the national democratic committee mounted on horses on an outing trip, trying to evade momentarily the cares of convention life. Reading from left to right in the picture these prominent Democrats are as follows: Committeeman James Dahlman, Nebraska; Committeeman J. W. Wade, Iowa; Committeeman John L. Mullins, Colorado; Committeeman J. E. Osbourne, Wyoming; Committeeman Norman E. Mack, New York; Committeeman John Johnson, South Dakota; Committeeman Roger Sullivan, Illinois; Chairman Thomas Taggart, Indiana; Secretary Urey Woodson of Kentucky.

The exact number of delegates to the convention is 1,002, but in the section reserved for the delegates, which is in front of the rostrum, there are 1,072 seats. This is accounted for by the fact that several states have selected twice their allotted number of delegates, giving each a half vote. The section for alternates has 1,002 seats, no additions having been made by states that doubled their delegations.

To the right and left of the rostrum a flight of stairs leads down to the basement, where telegraph instruments and private telephone booths are located. Beneath the rostrum is a tunnel connecting the two divisions of the press section, so that if correspondents have occasion to cross from one side to the other they will not be compelled to pass between the speaker and the delegates and spectators. This same passage will be used by messengers and pages, to avoid confusion.

Main Entrance.

The main entrance to the auditorium is on Curtis street. In this part of the building, extending back from the sections reserved for the delegates and alternates, are 826 seats for the general public. This is the body of the theater and ordinarily has 1,042 seats outside of the boxes, which have a total of 186 seats. Explanation has been made of how the platform and sections for delegates and alternates encroach upon this space.

Section No. 5 of this part of the building, located near the delegates, will be reserved for notable persons who visit the convention.

The same plan will prevail at the opposite end of the building designated the Champa street end, where 1,073 seats are provided for the general public.

Back of the seats for the public at the two ends of the auditorium, and also along the Fourteenth street side and behind the alternates, boxes are arranged with capacity of 544 seats. The boxes are reserved for distinguished guests.

In addition there is seating space for 700 more people in the Curtis and Champa street ends, where extra chairs can be placed in an emergency. The demand for seats is so great that all of the available space will be used but no attempt will be made to overcrowd the building.

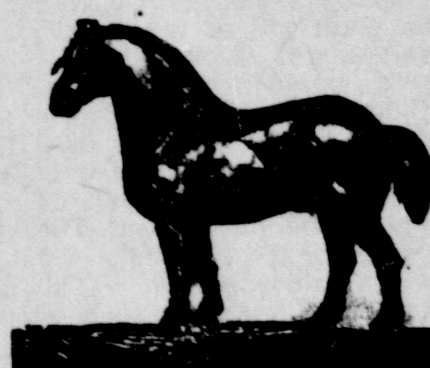

The total capacity of the balcony is 2,577, and of the galleries, 1,833.

"DRAW THE PEOPLE TOWARD THE RIVER"

THEN EXPLAIN ITS IMPORTANCE, SAYS MELVILLE E. TRUX

"THISTLE" IS AT DAVENPORT

Tribune Correspondent and Navigator of Father of Waters Thinks Carnival Idea Good

"Get the people in the outlying districts, away from the river, interested in its possibilities," said Melville E. Trux, special correspondent of "The Motor Boat," who is also writing a series of articles for The Tribune on the upper Mississippi river. Mr. Trux is in Davenport and will remain there several days assimilating local information about the great river, its points of historical interest and figures about its commercial prospects.

"No better plan suggests itself to me," continued Mr. Trux, "than the one adopted by your Commercial club in planning a river carnival in September. I understand from talking with people in the city that it is to be a spectacle which will attract thousands of people from all over this section of the country. I heard of your plans up the river before I reached the city and the proposition at once presented itself to me as one which should mean much for the river."

"The benefits accruing to the people of the whole Mississippi valley, hundreds of miles on each side of the river, if improvements in the stream, will be incalculable. But I understand that it is difficult to make them see the matter in this light. Affairs such as your carnival will serve to attract the attention of the people to the river and its possibilities. Let them see what a grand stream it is, then impress them with the facts concerning its possibilities. Get them to lend their assistance in your demands on congress to improve this great avenue of commerce. Their assistance will be potent."

"The advantage to Cedar Rapids, Des Moines, Peoria and those cities at a distance from the river, will be almost as great as to yourselves here directly on the banks of the stream. 'I confess I have never in my life become so deeply interested in any project as the one now being agitated in this valley for a deep waterway to the gulf. I become more fascinated with it as I proceed down the river. Pessimists Obstructive."

"Blends of the great river have said so many times during the past few weeks that the greatest difficulty in the way if the work of river improvement is the pessimistic attitude of a few influential men, mostly survivors of the old Mississippi days, when the river was practically the only avenue of commerce in this section. They claim that the river has seen its day. That if it were worth anything to commerce it would have been improved long ago, and that the fact that there is but little navigation in it now, is indicative that it will never be what it once was."

"This is the rankest fallacy. Back in and before the seventies, it is true the Mississippi presented an activity unequalled now. But that was about the time when the power of the railroads began to appear. These big companies discouraged in every way possible river navigation. They had representatives at congress beating down every effort made in behalf of the stream. Their influence has been potent for the past 30 years."

Railways Have Had Day.
"But now I say it is the railroads that have had their day and not the river. On no less authority than that of James J. Hill, himself one of the leading railroad men of the country, I base my prediction that the railroads are no longer able to handle the commerce of this section of the country. Mr. Hill, you will remember, made the prediction that it would take something like five billions of dollars to put the railroads in condition to do the work that is now and will be required of them during the next few years."

Can't Handle Traffic.
"They are completely unable to handle the traffic. And with the building of the Panama canal, this great artery directly from one end of the country to the other, the middle of the country will be the natural pathway to the Pacific."

"You people don't know what this river means to you. I have the enthusiasm, but I wish I had the eloquence of voice and pen to show you your opportunity as I believe it presents itself."

"Of course there are not many steamers plying the waters of the stream now. As a matter of commercial expediency there could not be. I know men of wealth and prominence in the business world, and I know them sufficiently well to believe them when they tell me that as soon as a six foot channel is established on this river they will build lines of steamers that will be able to carry a large portion of the products of your factories and of your farms, which now must be shipped to the south, the southwest and to foreign ports largely by rail."

AT THE DENVER CONVENTION

Ex-Senator Thomas Patterson of Colorado, who is very prominent in the gathering at Denver.

lished on this river they will build lines of steamers that will be able to carry a large portion of the products of your factories and of your farms, which now must be shipped to the south, the southwest and to foreign ports largely by rail."

Want Channel Established.

"The delay in the building of such steamers is due to the fact that no one wants to put money into a fleet of boats designed for traffic in four feet of water and then be required to rebuild them again in a few years for a six foot stage, to meet the competition of others."

"I know, too, positively, of instances of capitalists, who do not live in your own river communities who have their attention riveted on the situation here. They have been inquiring, sending representatives or writing to the men along the river who have the information, for facts and figures, with a view to bidding for the business which will inevitably be built up on the river."

Mr. Trux, although his business for many years has kept him in the east, and although he has lived for a considerable time in foreign countries, is really a product of the Mississippi valley. He was born at Sparta, Wis., and spent many days on the Mississippi river years ago. He was in Davenport in 1875, coming down the river with a friend in a dugout canoe.

He will continue his way down the river in a few days and his interesting articles will continue to appear in The Tribune as he proceeds.

G. B. Burhans testifies after four years.

G. B. Burhans, of Carlisle Center, N. Y., writes: "About four years ago I wrote you stating that I had been entirely cured of a severe kidney trouble by taking less than two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure. It entirely stopped the brick dust sediment, and pain and symptoms of kidney disease disappeared. I am glad to say that I have never had a return of any of those symptoms during the four years that have elapsed and I am evidently cured to stay cured, and heartily recommend Foley's Kidney Cure to any one suffering from kidney or bladder trouble." O. T. Erhart.

PLANS PROGRESS FOR BIG PICNIC

Preparations are going rapidly forward for the big joint picnic of the Winona and La Crosse Red Men to be held at Dakota Park, up the river, on Sunday, July 19. The La Crosse Red Men will go to Dakota on the steamer La Crosse and barge while the Winonans will leave at 8 a. m. on the Ideal and barge. Good music will be furnished and dancing will be enjoyed at the park. Numerous contests will be pulled off and the weather is pleasant, a most delightful day is in store for all who attend.

WINONA TO HAVE HATFIELD TRAIN

Definite information was received last night which assures the excursion on the Green Bay road from Winona to Hatfield next Sunday. The train will leave Winona at 8 a. m. and returning will arrive home at 7:30, leaving the excursionists about five hours to view the wonderful engineering feat nearing completion there.

Many Winona people will take advantage of this opportunity and it is expected that a full train load will leave on the Green Bay road from the Burlington depot on Sunday morning.

PRES. BEHRENS IS HIGHLY PLEASED

President Theo. G. Behrens of Chicago, one of the executive members of the Saengerfest to be held here this month, was in the city Wednesday going over the plans and work for the big fest.

"Everything is progressing nicely for one of the most successful fests since the organization," said Mr. Behrens, "and the enthusiasm being shown eclipses all previous Saengerfests."

There may be nothing new under the sun, but there are a lot of fresh people.

ANNA HICKISCH TELLS OF TRAVELS

LA CROSSE GIRL WORE DIRECTOIRE GOWN ON STAGE

THEY ARE COMMON ABROAD

Reviews Her Trip to South Africa and the Meeting of Royalty in England

"The story of my experiences during my professional travels would, I'm afraid, make too long a story," said Anna Hickisch-Howland today, "but I have met with many interesting incidents which have served to add to the pleasures of my wanderings. I spent about one and one-half years in South Africa before coming to England on my way homeward, and I think my experiences there were the most interesting I have met with. I met Rudyard Kipling, the great writer, and also the king of Natal. Of course my trip was entirely professional, as I would not think of going to Africa for pleasure, when there are such places as England and the continent to visit. I sang at Cape Town, Pietermaritzburg and most of more important cities of southern Africa. These places were not so widely different from European cities as one would expect, and I was rather surprised that they were not what I had supposed they would be."

"I was at Natal at the time of the uprising of the Zulus there, and had some rather interesting experiences in connection with it. We used rickshaws in our trips about the country, from the theatre to our hotels, etc., and as these were drawn by the natives, when the uprising occurred we either had to walk or ride in the poorly equipped cabs. At Durban we ordered carriages to ride only for a short distance—about half a mile—I think. When we arrived at our destination the cabmen politely charged us $4 each for our ride."

Meets "Lordship."

"It was while I was present at the dedication of a new city hall at Pietermaritzburg that I met the governor of Natal. I sang at the dedication and was afterwards introduced to his 'lordship.'"

"I remained in London for five months after my return from South Africa. I sang an operatic sketch by Gus Kerker while I was there, and I also did the 'Lady Dandies' for a few weeks. I visited and sang in all the important cities such as London, Manchester and Liverpool."

Wore Directoire Gown.

"While in England I wore on the stage the directoire gown which has created such a sensation in America. This kind of gown is worn very commonly in England and France and is seen mostly at the fashionable races. I think the directoire gown is alright for the stage, but I do not consider it very nice for the street."

"On the way back from South Africa to England I stopped at the Madeira Islands. The hotels at these islands are all situated high up on the hills back from the coast. They are reached by a cog road, but to get down the hill one has to be pulled down by a native. The natives are very fond of stopping at the inns on the way down and if you do not let them stop to get a drink they will charge you three times as much for their services as they would otherwise, so it is cheaper to let them have their refreshments."

Sang for King.

"I sang at the house of the Duchess of Sutherland before King Edward, and I was introduced to Sir Frederick Bridge, a famous organist, who is a friend of Mr. Howland. I also had the pleasure of meeting Frederick Cowan, Sir Elgar and other prominent musicians of England."

Helices Successful.

"The tourists from America usually make as bad an impression on the English people as do the English who come to America. The helices are a great success, however, and are treated splendidly by the English. It is needless to say that they are a great deal better looking than the English girls. (Although Miss Hickisch is not what you would call an helix there can be no doubt but what she ranks with those who are said to be well liked by the English.) Miss Erhart's wedding was a very stylish affair and there was more royalty present at this event than there ever was at another American girl's wedding in England."

Producing New Play.

"Mr. Howland is producing a new play which is to be put on at the Apollo in September. This was the reason why he was unable to come to La Crosse with me. I intend to return to England in three weeks and as soon as Mr. Howland's play is produced we are going on our honeymoon to Paris."

Plans for the Future.

"My plans for the future are not yet complete, but I have in mind what I think I shall do. I am planning to sing at concerts in Berlin and Vienna and after Christmas I will be accompanied by Mr. Howland. I will also be at the Waldorf theatre, but I will not take part in the play which my husband is producing."

"Although I am not very much interested in politics and I have not much opportunity to study the progress of affairs, I find that the English have formed an opinion on the condition of political affairs in our country. They seem to think that Bryan has no show for the presidency and think that Taft is the man for the place."

During the summer kidney irregularities are often caused by excessive drinking or being overheated. Attend to the kidneys at once by using Foley's Kidney Cure. O. T. Erhart.

REED SMOOT WILL SEEK RE-ELECTION

MORMON SENATOR WON'T GIVE UP HIS AMBITION

SUTHERLAND AGAINST HIM

Says Senator Should Give up His Apostleship if He Desires
Seat in the Senate

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 9.—
Senator Reed Smoot of Utah has determined to be a candidate for another term in the senate and has so announced to the voters of his state
His candidacy promises to arouse an animated fight in Utah and has already made an interesting situation
as between Smoot and his colleagues,
Senator George Sutherland.

Senator Smoot is an apostle of the Mormon church, as is well known to those who gave attention to the efforts to expel him from the senate.
Senator Sutherland, who is the head of the leading law firm of Salt Lake City, and whose relations with the Mormon church are good, although he himself is not a Mormon, does not believe it right for Smoot, while an apostle of the Mormon church, to seek re-election. He stood by Smoot in opposition to the movement for his expulsion from the senate but he feels that Smoot now should either give up his apostleship or should not seek to remain in the senate after this term.

Senator Smoot, however, will not give up the position of apostle in his church and will not be diverted from his purpose to secure re-election to the senate. From his point of view,
he could not give up the apostleship
to run for the senate for the reason that Mormons would at once raise the cry against him that he had given up high honors of a spiritual kind for the sake of gratifying worldly ambitions. He has either to take the senate office and retain the apostleship or abandon the senatorship. His term will expire March 3, 1909. Until recently, Mr. Smoot has been little heard from in the senate.

While he was under fire in consequence of the movement for his expulsion he did not obtrude himself on the senate, except insofar as it was absolutely necessary for him to do so.
He sat in his seat day after day,
attending the sessions regularly, but not taking any part other than voting in the proceedings on the floor.
Lately, Senator Smoot has been more conspicuous in senate affairs and in the last session addressed the senate
on a number of important subjects.
As chairman of the senate committee on patents, Senator Smoot has a great deal to do with the copyright measure which is pending in congress. He spoke last session in favor of currency legislation and he has a large share in trying to get legislation for a 320-acre homestead.

Senator Sutherland and Senator Smoot are personal friends but the position taken by Sutherland may lead to a breach between them. If Sutherland opposes Smoot for the senate as he is expected to do, then Smoot's influence and perhaps that of the whole Mormon church will be turned against Sutherland and when he seeks re-election for the term beginning March 4, 1911, Smoot will have formidable opposition apart from any course Mr. Sutherland may take. A number of candidates have put up senatorial lightning rods. Ex-Senator Thomas Keams is one of the men who aspire to replace Smoot.

ANTI-INJUNCTION PLEASE GOMPERS

night to nominate Bryan.
The vice presidential candidate will be nominated tomorrow and the convention will adjourn sine die tomorrow night.

Try to Show Loss.
An effort is being made by the anti-Bryanites to show as a result of the voting in the convention last night on Guffey that Bryan has not the necessary two-thirds vote to nominate him. This claim is based on the fact that only 615 were mustered to carry out the Bryan plan ousting Guffey. If the 387 who voted to sus-tain Guffey stand firm, it is argued,
that they could prevent the nomination of Bryan on the first ballot. In this speculation, however, it is overlooked that many delegates who came under positive instructions to vote for Bryan for the presidency did not consider themselves bound to support all his policies, and they exercised their own free will, voting for Guffey.
Among these are counted 123 votes.
Adding these to the 615 cast against Guffey, gives Bryan 738 on the first ballot.

TAKES ACID IN DARK FOR COUGH

VIROQUA, Wis., July 9.—(Special).—Getting up in the night to take some cough medicine and in the darkness procuring the carbolic acid bottle and taking a big swallow of it is the horrible experience of Mrs.
Thomas Dosling of this place.
Mrs. Dosling had been suffering from a cold and was bothered during the night with fits of coughing. She arose, intending to secure the medicine to quiet the cough. The house was dark and by mistake she took the wrong bottle and, before discovering her error, swallowed a large amount of the fiery liquid. A doctor was summoned immediately and succeeded in getting most of the acid out of her stomach. She is resting easily now with the exception of a badly burned throat and mouth.

Many a man who is sure he is right

ELLIOT SIGNS UP A STAR TWIRLER

P. H. PRIMLEY COMES FROM SIOUX FALLS, S. D.

WHITEWINGS' CROWD COMING

Will Play With the Athletics Here in Couple of Games; Scarry Released;
ed; Hastings with Harmony

President Elliott of the baseball association received a telegram this morning from Sioux Falls, S. D., signing P. H. Primley as a new member of the Colts' pitching staff.

Primley comes highly recommended and Mr. Elliott said that if he shows half the "goods" he is said to possess, he will be one of the best in the league. During the early part of the season he tried out the Sioux City in the Western League and later
played with Yankton of the South Dakota league. He is said to be fast, has a good curve and will be a strong addition to the team. He will report within a few days.

Arrangements are being made by the La Crosse Athletics for a game with White Wings and his aggregation of reds from Whittenburg, Ia. Gus Whitewings, the brave who tried out with the Colts, the first of the season wrote to Mr. Elliott some time ago asking for a date and if satisfactory arrangements can be made the Indians will be brought here next Sunday and Sunday.

Scarry, who tried out with La Crosse last week left this morning for Decorah, Ia., where he has been signed by the Decorah club. Scarry is a southpaw and made a fair showing here, but Manager Hawley did not consider him strong enough for this league at present. Denny Hastings, for the past season and a half,
a member of the Colts, has received a flattering offer from the Harmony
club and will probably accept.

FORESTERS RAISE INSURANCE RATES

Mrs. C. C. Looney has returned from Toronto, Canada, where she went as a delegate to attend the Independent Order of Foresters.

This was a special meeting called by the officers to adjust the rates
and it was voted by the body to raise the assessments of the members who joined prior to the year 1899,
but not on those joining since 1899
practically putting all on the same basis.

The Independent Order of Foresters
is taking the lead in getting its rates of insurance up to the standard advocated by the Fraternal Congress.

A report will be gotten out by the delegates from Wisconsin and mailed to the different courts in the state at an early date, giving in detail the results of the meeting.

Mrs. Looney visited at Aurora,
Ill., Chicago, Buffalo and Niagara Falls and reports a very pleasant trip.

GOOD TIME AT LARGEST "DAM-N"

LA CROSSE EXCURSIONISTS HAVE FINE TRIP

SOME JOLLYING ENROUTE

And When the Train Pulled into the La Crosse Station Everyone
Was Happy

Yesterday morning dawned "brite
an' fare" for the Hatfield excursionists. The Green Bay Annual Limited pulled out of the station with about 350 people on board all bound for the Hatfield dam. On the way up all was fun and jollification on the train and as most of the towns
had been seen many times before,
the excursionists contented themselves by singing popular or impromptu songs or listening to the talk. Harry E. Long, the Peerless advertising man, started the rumpus
by bringing out the following yell.

U rah, rah,
Best in the west,
La Crosse, La Crosse,
Saengerfest.

This disgraceful imitation of a college yell was followed by a song
to the tune of "Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight." The words were:
"Cheer, boys, cheer, the time will soon be here, U rah, rah, with weather bright and fair,
And when we hit La Crosse we'll get
some d— good beer,
There'll be a hot time in the old town
tonight."

Chauncey A. Kohlhaas boarded the train with a grip in his hand. The crowd immediately began to get inquisitive and wondered what he had in it. "Bet it's some booze," said
Lamb to Bentley and the latter licked his chops, expectantly. Kroner finally summoned the courage and inquired what the grip contained and Kohlhaas gravely replied, "A bathing suit."

Biggest Dam
While trying to open a window,
Frederick, the Tribune advertising man, hurt his finger and instead of the cuss word which those in his immediate vicinity expected to hear,
he calmly said "Hatfield."

"Why do you say that?" inquired
a friend.

"I made a resolution to quit cussing," answered Frederick, "and Hatfield is the biggest dam(n) I can think of without breaking my resolution."

John Racheleman, the ex-sausage
magnate, endangered his life by displaying a "Fest" card on which was printed "Love me." It is said that every lady in the train obeyed the sign to the letter.

Silent William Tschanner talked
so much that he caused a hot box which delayed the train for some time.

J. I. Lamb and A. A. Bentley acted as official conductor and collector and it is needless to say that they bota made big enough "takeoffs" to buy themselves each a lot in the Hill-view addition.

Peter Newburg made his headquarters at the Laundry Inn. Only shirts, collars and cuffs were served at this inn as a rule, but on account of the event the proprietor had set up a peanut and pop stand there.
As peanuts and pop are Pete's long suit it was hard to get him away from the place.

Bert Van Stenwyk has a wonderful voice and he displayed it to good advantage by singing his popular song, "Kimmel * * on the Race."
Bert sang his song through to the end and when he had finished he asked a baldheaded man near him
how he liked it and received the answer, "Oh, I guess I can stand it if you can." Gram woke up in the back of the car with a start and said in a voice full of disgust, "I got a file home that can do that good."

Sisson, Raymond and Pierce gathered in one corner of the coach and prepared to give a concert whether the others liked it or not.

"Let's sing 'Peeking Through the Knothole in Grandfather's Wooden Leg,'" said Grams.

"Now, let's sing 'Who Built the Niagara so Near to the Falls?'" ventured Sisson, but the others didn't agree to this because they wanted something more up to date, so they comprised by singing "Strawberries
May Come and Strawberries May Go,
but Prunes are With Us Always."

Carl Kurtenacker, the imitation drum major, headed the band at the different stations along the line and marched at the head of the procession around the town. "My, ain't he cute? Ain't he just so straight and fine as an American kangaroo?"
were some of the comments made by the admiring beauties on the side lines, but Carl didn't mind these, as he is married.

At Onataska, Ludwig Kroner and MacDonough spied Gund's beer sign some distance up the road. They both headed for it, but they got no more than half way when the train began to whistle. "Now Kroner ain't thin, and he ain't no printer either,
so he just laid down and let Mac roll him along like a barrel to the train," said a man explaining it.

Advertise Fest

After spending the afternoon in looking over the dam and power house the crowd marched around the town spreading saengerfest advertising matter. The train left for La Crosse at 4 o'clock and according to the latest census nobody was left behind. The excursionists had supper at Arcadia and then continued on the homeward way. Twenty and 30 minute stops were made at all the stations along the line such as Merrillan Junction, Independence, Blair, Whitehall and Arcadia. A. T. Muth, the Park store big gun, wanted to stop off at every town to see if he could

M'CARREN & GUFFEY "WALK THE PLANK"

PROTESTING LEADERS FROM THE EAST ARE DEFEATED

BOTH READ OUT OF PARTY

Bryan Forces Fight Against Trouble-Makers at Night Session of Democratic Convention

DENVER, Colo., July 8.—By decree of W. J. Bryan, Patrick McCar-ren of New York and Col. James M.
Guffey of Pennsylvania were last night read out of the democratic convention.

Guffey fought to the last ditch, his fight being carried to the floor of the convention, where hot words were passed and fervent appeals made to save the old war horse from his dostined fate. But at the end of the stirring battle, the vote stood 387 to 615 against the Pennsylvania boss, and the doom of his leadership was sounded.

Guffey retained his own seat in the convention, but his following is so cut up that he will lose his place in the national committee and his influence in the Keystone state will be reduced to a cipher.

McCarren Gives Up.
There was not even a minority report in favor of McCarren. The credentials committee, after McCarren's wicked fight before it, decided unanimously against him.

Guffey took his defeat stolidly. So did McCarren. The convention devoted practically the entire night session to the consideration of the report of the credentials committee and in the end approved the report unanimously.

Permanent Chairman Harry D.
Clayton of Alabama did not get to deliver his address. By the time the Guffey fight had been disposed of the delegates were glad to adjourn.

Hobson Makes a Speech.
The night session was called to order at 8:27, but it was ten minutes later before complete order was restored. The report of the committee on credentials not having been received, Ormond of Alabama was recognized to move that Congressman Richard Pearson Hobson, the hero of the Merrimac, be invited to address
the convention.

The crowd was in no mood to listen to idle oratory and seemed to vote down the proposition. Chairman Bell, however, decided that the vote
being a tie, he would cast the deciding vote in favor of Hobson, who mounted the platform. He predicted a great war, and was howled down by the delegates and galleries.
Bell had to rap for order many times during the progress of the speech.

Committee Reports.
At 9:30 the committee on credentials presented its report which read out of the party McCarren, Guffey
and others of the anti-Bryanites.

Attorney General Strauss of Maryland read a minority report which protested against the seating of the Bryan delegates from Pennsylvania.
It was signed by members from New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Louisiana, Illinois, North Carolina, Georgia, Virginia, Minnesota, West Virginia, Delaware, Kentucky and New Jersey.

Haskell of Oklahoma moved that half an hour be given each side for argument. Kern of Indiana seconded the motion.

Callahan of the majority took the platform in favor of the motion at 9:50 p. m. Strauss of Maryland attempted to get the opening and closing arguments for the minority on a technicality, but was overruled.

The committee discovered that the allegations that the delegates chosen in Philadelphia were not representative of the democracy of that city,
said the speaker.

Corruption Is Charged.

He declared that the contestants
produced evidence that the democratic party of Philadelphia is not represented in this convention. He discovered that one element was concerned in the election of a democrat
as president and another concerned
in the defeat of such a candidate.
The latter did not hesitate to buy the polls in order to win.

By these methods the speaker said
the Guffey adherents in Philadelphia elected their delegates. The committee, the speaker declared, had received adequate sworn evidence of these facts. It was impossible to escape the conviction, the speaker continued, after considering the evidence that the dominant faction of the democracy in Philadelphia was maintained altogether by an alliance with republican leaders and no plea of party harmony is to be permitted to be operated against justice being done
to the loyal democrats who are struggling in Philadelphia to build up a real democratic organization.

Strauss Argues for Guffey.
Strauss of Maryland, arguing for the Guffey organization, declared
get anything new in the line of fancy hosiery but his keeper thought it best that he keep in out of the cold night air.

When the train was about a mile outside of La Crosse Kurtenacker began to bewail the fact that "he was afraid to go home in the dark." Nobody paid any attention to him because they knew he was so used to it that it was only a bluff.

It was in the dead of the night,
near Hoeschler's drug store, when Kohlhaas and Bentley hove into view. Both were decidedly the worse for wear and had to stop at the corners and lean against the lamp posts.

"Say, did you go to Gentry Bros.
show?" questioned Kohlhaas.

"Yes," answered Bentley.

"I didn't see you there; what cage was you in?"

And they both went home.

S.S.S. CURES SKIN DISEASES

When the blood is pure and healthy, the skin will be soft, smooth, and free from all blemishes and eruptions; but when some acid humor takes root in the circulation, its presence is quickly manifested by some form of skin disease. The skin receives its necessary nourishment and strength from the blood. When, however, this vital fluid becomes a humor-laden stream, it can no longer preserve the healthy, natural appearance of the skin, but by its acrid, impure nature continually irritates and inflames the delicate tissues and fibres and keeps the cuticle in a diseased and disfigured condition.
External applications cannot reach the blood, and therefore are beneficial only for their ability to reduce inflammation, and assist in keeping the parts clean. To cure any skin trouble the blood must be purified of the humors that are causing the trouble. S. S. S. drives out the humors from the blood so that the skin, instead of being irritated and diseased, is nourished by a healthy, cooling stream. S. S. S. goes down into the circulation and removes every particle of impure matter, all acids and humors, and restores the blood to its normal, pure condition, thereby curing every form of skin disease or affection. Book on skin diseases and any medical advice free to all who write.

there was not a shred of evidence to support the finding of the majority.
Moreover, the report of the majority was in absolute defiance of every law governing election contests of this sort. The report strikes down unimpeached credentials issued by the supreme party tribunal of the state, he said. He argued for the upholding of the regular organization
on the face of the returns at the primaries.

"You would not drive a dog, much less a democrat out of this convention
on the trumped up charges presented to the committee on credentials," cried Strauss. He appealed for the recognition of the rest of the states
to rule their own party organization
and warned them to halt before committing themselves to centralized control of the party.

"I ask you in the name of the representatives of the state of Pennylvania if you would not go into this convention the best of the country for attacking your own fundamental principles to vote down the report of the majority of this committee."

Strauss closed amid great applause.
Bellamy of North Carolina was given twelve minutes to speak against the majority report. The principles involved, he said, effects the interests of no one involved in the presidency. He reviewed the Pennsylvania fight anew.

"There is not a scintilla of evidence to support the contentions of the contestants," he said.

G. N. Haskell, governor of Oklahoma, took the platform.

"It is one of the rights of the people of every state," he declared, "to rule without interference from the corporations." Arguing for the majority report, he attacked Col. Guffey's corporation without naming him.

Illinois Vote Divided.

The convention then voted on the majority report.

When Illinois was reached Roger Sullivan announced that the delegation stood eighteen for the majority report and thirty-six for the minority, therefore, under the unit rule, the state voted the full vote for the minority report.

A snarl occurred when New Jersey

was reached on the roll call. The chairman of the delegation noted the twenty-four votes of the state in favor of the minority report, and the vote was challenged on the ground that the delegation was not ordered to vote under the unit rule. The record of the state convention was produced, as well as the minutes of the secretary of the delegation, both putting the state on record as favoring the unit rule, and the vote was so cast for Guffey.

Charles F. Murphy personally cast
the entire vote of New York in favor of the majority report, and Guffey leaped to his feet, demanding a roll call of the delegation. He was cheered

Governor Folk, However, Tells Tri-

DENVER, Colo., July 9.—(Special.)—The fact that Charles W. Towne is the only active vice presidential candidate invited to address the convention indicates Bryan wants him for a running mate. Towne was invited to the platform by Bell Wednesday afternoon, but was out of the hall. At the evening session the invitation was repeated. Bell is Bryan's mouthpiece and politicians are asking each other how if repeated efforts to make Towne prominent are not Bryan's way of placating Tammany and securing New York's support.

The Bryan people were plainly worried yesterday despite the wonderful success of the brilliant demonstration, because New York's standard was not among those that were carried in triumphant procession about the hall. Towne is Tammany's protegee and the signal honor paid him cannot but be regarded as significant.

The New York delegation, it is now known, is split on the Bryan issue. They did not join in the demonstration Wednesday because the Bryan-ites refrained out of respect to the antis. There seems to be an agreement in the delegation that New York will not join any Bryan demonstration till after the nomination.

Anyone Could Ask.

I asked Governor Folk this morning if in his opinion the action of Bell had such significance. He said, "No," and explained thus: "Any man who requests the chairman to allow him to address the convention can have the request granted. In my opinion Towne's friends asked Bell to invite Towne to the platform. Few vice presidential candidates would do it."

NEW YORK, July 9.—Two hotels, the Vanderveer's and Pabst's, were destroyed and 25,000 people saw the guests leap for life from the blazing windows, in a quarter of a million dollar fire today, which nearly wiped out Coney Island.

VAGS SENTENCED.—William Harold and S. W. Maes, vagrants, were today sentenced to serve 20 days in the county jail.

HIVES BEES.—Assistant Johnson of the county poor farm yesterday attracted a large crowd at the levee by trying to give a swarm of bees from a chimney over the Hart Implement store. Johnson and a companion beat a hasty retreat from the roof, much to the amusement of the crowd, and spent some time picking the infuriated bees from their hair and clothing. They did not secure the bees.

TOURTELLOTTIE WINS.—Wallace Tourtelotte, playing off a tie with J. M. Hixon and E. J. Evans at Schaghticoke club, left over from the match on the Fourth, won it easily, yesterday.

WATER SPOILS FISHING.—The high water is seriously hampering the fishing in this vicinity and the followers of Walton and skiff ferry men are anxious for a fall. The water is now going down slowly and it is expected if there is no continuance of the heavy rains the stage will be normal by the end of the month. Some pike and pickerel are being caught in the vicinity, but the bass harvest has not yet been started.

TRIP TO WINONA
IN AN AUTOMOBILE

John Meyer, George Olson and Mr. House of the Northern Automobile company made a trip in the latter's machine yesterday to Winona. The party left La Crosse in the morning and reached Winona in time for dinner. Mr. Olson and Mr. Meyer made the return trip by rail while Mr. House went on to St. Paul.

CIRCUS PIG IS COLLEGE-BRED

Kerslake, the New Zealander, who has made himself famous the world over as a trainer of pigs, has brought to this country a company of barnyard "gruntners" which, at least as far as higher education is concerned, put to blush the American hog of commerce.

Kerslake declares the hog was never made to tickle the palate of the epicure. "He is much too intelligent and refined to become a martyr to gastronomy," says the New Zealand porcine pedagogue. Kerslake's pigs skip the rope, dance, ride velocipedes, play leap-frog and shoot the chutes. The act they do is one of the remarkably clever and funny novelties found on the program of Ringling Brothers' World's Greatest Shows this season.

Various European animal trainers contribute to this year's excellent bill. The many other specialties, mostly foreigners, have been selected with the end in view of giving the public novelty and variety. This season's company numbers 375 performers.

The three tallest giraffes in the world, a man-like chimpanzee, horned horses, Philippine cattle, water buffalo, a hippopotamus weighing 4,000 pounds, birds from the tropics and the frozen north, black and white yaks from Tibet, llamas, a fine specimen of rhinoceros, South African wart hogs, anteaters, all varieties of the cat family, sacred oxen, camels, dromedaries and herds of elephants are just a few of the many attractions in the menagerie.

The Ringling Brothers are to exhibit all these wondrous attractions in La Crosse, on Tuesday, July 21, beginning the day with their new three-mile parade and following in the afternoon and at night with the best circus program ever arranged, presented largely by European talent never before seen in this country. The chief attraction of the novel bill is the thrilling and rash undertaking of Miss La Belle Roche, who startles the audience with a dangerous automobile double somersault in mid-air.

In addition to the ticket wagons on the grounds a branch office will also be in operation on show day at Young's Drug Store, where reserved seats and admissions may be bought at the regular prices. This is an accommodation that will be appreciated by those who wish to avoid the crowds on the grounds.

KOBELITZ DENIES HE ASSAULTED CORNELL

On a warrant served by Ernest Cornell, charging him with assault and battery Jacob Koblitz was brought into county court this morning and pleaded not guilty. The alleged assault occurred on the Koblitz farm south of here.

Somehow the average man never feels called upon to repent until after he has been caught with the goods.

What Ails You?

Do you feel weak, tired, despondent, have frequent headaches, coated tongue, bitter or bad taste in morning, "heartburn," belching of gas, acid risings in throat after eating, stomach gnaw or burn, foul breath, dizzy spells, poor or variable appetite, nausea at times and kindred symptoms?

If you have any considerable number of the above symptoms you are suffering from biliousness, torpid liver with indigestion, or, possibly, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is made up of the most valuable medicinal principles known to medical science for the permanent cure of such abnormal conditions. It is a most efficient liver invigorator, stomach tonic, bowel regulator and nerve strengthener.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is not a patent medicine or secret nostrum, a full list of its ingredients being printed on its bottle wrapper and attested under oath. A glance at its formula will show that it contains no alcohol, or harmful habit-forming drugs. It is a fluid extract made with pure, triple-refined glycerine, of proper strength, from the roots of the following native American forest plants, viz., Golden Seal root, Stone root, Black Cherry bark, Queen's root, Bloodroot, and Mandrake root.

The following leading medical authorities, among a host of others, extol the following roots for the cure of just such ailments as the above symptoms indicate: Prof. R. Bartholow, M. D., of Jefferson Med. College, Phila.; Prof. H. C. Wood, M. D., of Univ. of Pa.; Prof. Edwin M. Hale, M. D., of Hahnemann Med. College, Chicago; Prof. John King, M. D., Author of American Dispensatory; Prof. Jno. M. Scudder, M. D., Author of Specific Medicines; Prof. Laurence Johnson, M. D., Med. Dept. Univ. of N. Y.; Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., Author of Materia Medica and Prof. in Bennett Medical College, Chicago. Send name and address on Postal Card to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., and receive free booklet giving extracts from writings of all the above medical authorities and many others endorsing, in the strongest possible terms, each and every ingredient of which "Golden Medical Discovery" is composed.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. They may be used in conjunction with "Golden Medical Discovery" if bowels are much constipated. They're tiny and sugar-coated.

WHITE CAPS KILL
CLAIM JUMPERSFATHER AND IS DAUGHTER
SLAIN AT THEIR HOME

DEED ENDS LONG FEUD

Family Who Had Moved onto An-others Claim Had Been Warned to Move Away

CULBERTSON, Mont., July 9.—White Caps killed a claim jumper and his daughter at a point about ten miles north of Culbertson yesterday morning about 1:30 o'clock. The killed are John A. Hayes and his eldest daughter, a girl about 8 years old.

The claim where the shooting occurred was occupied by Walter Long, a bachelor, and the Hayes family, during his absence, moved their claim shack from the claim they were occupying on to the Walter Long claim. This happened several months ago, and since that time both claimants have occupied the same tract of land. Quarrels in which violence has been threatened have occurred between Hayes and Long several times, and a complaint was filed by Hayes charging Long with attempting to poison his dog about a month ago. However, the complaint was quashed for lack of evidence. At another time Long reported that he had been repeatedly shot at by a daughter of Mr. Hayes while attempting to drive the Hayes horses out of his oats.

The immediate event leading up to the tragedy was the notifying of the Hayes family by a party of men unknown, at 1 o'clock on the morning of July 7, giving them twenty-four hours to leave the country, under threats of violence.

At about the time of the expiration of the twenty-four hours' notice, shooting began at the Hayes house. Hayes went outside and returned the fire with a shotgun. In the house were Mrs. Hayes and five children. The oldest girl was hit by a bullet while her mother was trying to get her to a place of safety on the floor, the bullet passing through the house. Hayes was killed just outside of his door.

War Against Consumption
All nations are endeavoring to check the ravages of consumption, the "white plague" that claims so many victims each year. Foley's Honey and Tar cures coughs and colds perfectly and you are in no danger of consumption. Do not risk your health by taking some unknown preparation when Foley's Honey and Tar is safe and certain in results. The genuine is in a yellow package. O. T. Erhart.

SKY ROCKET INJURY FATAL

WATERLOO, Iowa, July 9.—Mrs. C. Stoner of Nora Springs died from injuries received Saturday night when a quantity of fireworks scheduled for use in completing the city celebration exploded from a spark. Mrs. Stoner was hit on the forehead by a sky rocket and injuries were sustained that later produced death. The windows in stores for a block about were broken. The accident cast a gloom over the crowd and a quietus was put on the celebration. Mrs. Stoner was thirty-five years old. She leaves a husband and little child.

SIGNATURE NOT PRINZIS

FERGUS FALLS, Minn., July 9.—The trial of Peter Prinzl will continue as far as the probate court is concerned and Judge Frankberg has taken the question of admitting the will under advisement. Attorneys for Mr. Prinzl's Austrian relatives who are endeavoring to prevent the admission of the will, placed two local bank cashiers on the stand, and both testified that in their opinion the signature on the alleged will is not that of Mr. Prinzl. Both are familiar with Mr. Prinzl's handwriting, and their testimony naturally carries considerable weight.

DULUTH YOUTH IS KIDNAPPEDJAMES MAULIFFE, JR., TAKEN FROM FATHER'S OFFICE

MOTHER SAID TO HAVE HIM

Men Take Lad in Carriage and Then Disappear—Two Villains
in the Plot

DULUTH, July 9.—James McAuliffe, Jr., nine years old, son of Dr. and Mrs. James McAuliffe, was kidnapped from his father's office in the Phoenix block shortly after a o'clock Tuesday afternoon by two unknown men, who hurried him into a hack waiting in the west entrance, in which vehicle Mrs. McAuliffe, it is claimed, was waiting to receive her son. The men are said to have been in the employ of Mrs. McAuliffe, and the whereabouts of the woman and the boy are at present unknown.

Night Watch Over House
Dr. McAuliffe and his brother, John McAuliffe, and two or three deputy sheriffs are shadowing the Judd premises. The officers are armed with papers that they wished to serve on Mrs. McAuliffe, but they were assured that she was not there. The vigil is still in progress.

The doctor and Mrs. McAuliffe lived apart for the last fifteen months. The cause of their separation is said to have been incompatibility of temper.

The story of the kidnapping contains all the elements of modern drama and fiction.

Two Villains in Plot

Dr. McAuliffe was busy with a patient in his private office and his son James was playing in the waiting room when two men entered. One of them told the boy to come with them, as his mother was waiting for him outside. The lad went with them to the back, and was either put in or got in of his own accord, and was driven rapidly away to the Judd residence.

One story is that immediately after entering the house Mrs. McAuliffe and her son went through to a rear door and jumped into an automobile which hurried them to West Duluth where they left the motor and went aboard a steam launch which conveyed them to Superior, where another automobile was in waiting. From there no trace has been found of the couple. The mother and son arrived at Superior about 5 o'clock, according to one authority, and whether they took a train out of there or are with friends in that city nobody claims to know.

BEER GOES ONLY TO "NO. 23"

IOWA FALLS, July 9.—Beer consigned to street numbers instead of names is under the ban of County Attorney Bradford Knapp of Wright county, and he now is busily engaged in confiscating and spoiling in the name of the law all such consignments found in his jurisdiction. He recently presided at the uncooking of sixteen cases consigned to certain street numbers in Eagle Grove.

SAYS TOT WAS KIDNAPPED

DULUTH, July 9.—The Duluth police have received a letter from A. Dupraw of Fort Killeen asking their co-operation to recover his daughter Olive, aged eight years. He does not give any particulars, but says that he has reason to believe that the child was kidnapped. The child talks both English and French. The girl disappeared on June 17. Her hair is cut Buster Brown style.

POWER DAM PARTLY GONE

FARIBAULT, Minn., July 9.—The high water in Straight river has weakened the dam belonging to the Polar Star electric light plant to such an extent that a portion of it has gone out. The race leading from the dam has become nearly dry and many fish that were in the race and unable to escape are being caught by barefooted boys, who waded out in the mud.

The helping hand is never empty.

The total appropriations for current expenses amounted to $14,000. The proposition to have seven members on the school board was defeated. Col. R. B. McCoy was elected as clerk in place of W. H. Blyden who has served in that capacity for the past twenty-nine years. This year's meeting was a very quiet one.

A team of mules belonging to Will Williams of Angelo were frightened Tuesday afternoon by a pair of racing autos and ran away. They ran into the banking, breaking the tongue of the wagon. The man is severely bruised but it is believed that no bones are broken. A telegraph was sent to West Salem to stop the autoists if seen.

WAUSAU, Wis., July 9.—Wausau will have better fire protection. In a special message to the council Mayor John F. CLINGS TO WIRE TO SAVE LIFE

WAUSAU, Wis., July 9.—Swayed to and fro in the Wisconsin river while clinging to a wire, cable stretched across the stream, Miss Jennie Bielek and her brother, Walter, 19 and 17 years old, respectively, of Granite Heights, remained in their perilous position for over an hour until help came. Both were exhausted and they were bruised and cut by the strain of clinging to the cable.

Clyde Fitch, at a dinner, produced one of his famous scrapbooks. "In this scrapbook," said Mr. Fitch, "I have gathered passages from the year's 'best sellers.' The passages will give you some idea of the style that goes."

Then he read:

"The worthy pastor appeared at the manse door, his hands thrust deep in the pockets of his loose jacket, while he turned the leaves of a prayer book thoughtfully and wiped his glasses with distraught air."

"After the door was closed, a stealthy foot slipped into the room, and with cautious hand extinguished the light."

"Fitzgibbon lingered over his final lemonade, when a gentle voice tapped him on the shoulder, and, turning, he beheld his old friend once again."

CHAIRMAN CLAYTON HITS REPUBLICANS

PERMANENT CHAIRMAN TAKES PLACE IN SESSION

PRESIDENT AN ADVERTISER

On the Ideas of Bryan, Says Speaker; Trusts Have Levied Awful Tax on Patient People

Upon assuming the office of permanent chairman of the Democratic national convention, Representative Henry D. Clayton, of Alabama, said in part:

"Mr. Chairman and Fellow Democrats: Let me thank you for the honor you have conferred upon me. This is a Democratic year. Democratic ideas are now popular. Doctrines always taught by our party and scoffed at by our opponents are now urged as a gospel of their own. Measures and policies of Democratic origin are now advocated by the leaders of the Republican party. It is no longer anarchistic to declare private monopoly to be in defense, or that the great transportation companies should be regulated and controlled by public law. A demand for the revision of the tariff is no longer a threat to destroy our industrial system. Trusts are not to be tolerated even by the Republican party. We need not now enlarge on the list of Republican admissions and promises for election purposes only. The Republican party has made marked progress in promises to the people and much greater progress in aiding selfish interests and special privileges. That party, guided by expediency and campaign necessity, would camp this year on Democratic ground. It is apparent that if recent progress is to continue it does not require a very great sweep of the imagination to see written into a Republican platform four years hence those immortal words of Thomas Jefferson, 'Equal rights to all, special privileges to none.'"

Republican Responsibility

"The Republican party, having had full control of the federal government for more than a decade, must give an account of its stewardship. Its pretentious claims, largely without foundation, and largely exaggerated, will not suffice. Let honest investigation reveal the bad and defective laws passed by that party; vicious policies maintained; reforms rejected; the recent panic and its consequences; promises broken; dissimulation practiced; incompetency confessed by its failure to meet urgent public needs; and exhibiting this incompetency by the appointment of junketing commissions for the alleged purpose of advising that party, so long in control and of such boasted legislative wisdom, what legislation is required by the country. Against the Republican party, so dangerous and crafty, is a capable, determined, honest Democracy, in sympathy with all just public demands, and confidently asking in its behalf the candid public judgment. To that judgment the issue must be committed, and we unhesitatingly submit our cause to that fine and true sense for the right that we know distinguishes the American people."

"My Policies"

"In this quadrennial contest Mr. Roosevelt has identified himself with Mr. Taft. Mr. Taft has identified himself with Mr. Roosevelt. The Republican party has inseparably identified the two together. To praise one you must praise the other; to criticize one is to criticize his pursuing shadow. And so, I must say, if it should appear to any one that in noting and denouncing abuses and failures on the part of the present administration any license is assumed, urge the impossibility of separating the present occupant of the White House from his own appointed one."

"It has been made evident in the pending campaign that the Republicans will seek to conjure with the name of Roosevelt and will rely upon the president's policies as a prized asset. The president has advertised himself and his policies with a frequency and ability that surpasses the best efforts of the shrewdest press agent. A distinguished Republican, a former cabinet officer, once publicly proclaimed the president to be the greatest exponent of the art of advertising the modern age."

"The country has been told and not allowed to forget that, in his opinion, his energies have been devoted to the accomplishment of many high purposes, and that if his work is yet incomplete it is so only because his undertakings were too vast to be carried to success during his term of office. 'My policies' must continue. The pretense is that the fight must go on under the leader designated by him until the last foe shall have surrendered or lies inglorious in the dust. The nomination of his would-be successor was largely accomplished by the use of official patronage and coarse machine methods, and has delighted the chief apostle of strenuousness, and, at the same time, has not perturbed the conscience of the one-time civil service reformer, now the boss, an adept in the bestowal of advice to the public and forgetful of all his resounding moral commonplaces. No fair-minded American could read the daily accounts of the recent political doings at Chicago without feeling mortification and regret; mortification that the president should have so abused his power in dictating to a great party his choice of a successor, and regret that that party should have submitted so cowardly to a humiliation that was as manifest as it was degrading."

Mr. Clayton called attention to the failure of the Republican convention to insert a plank forbidding campaign contributions, quoted President Roosevelt's condemnation of the practice in his message of December, 1905. Injunctions and contents of court were treated vigorously and several quotations from the message of President Roosevelt were given to show that the president had abandoned at Chicago the policies he had so vigorously urged in his message, adding:

"It is important to note that the act of June 2, 1886, was passed at the first session of the first congress that met under the first Democratic administration after the civil war and there labor received its first recognition from the government. One Republican administration had succeeded another for twenty-four years, and not one act was passed in the interest of labor or in acknowledgment of its right to fair and equal treatment. The Republicans enacted a tariff which enhanced the price of products that labor had made and capital owned, and they pretended to do this with a view of securing for labor higher wages. What they gave, however, was to the capitalist, and they trusted him to divide. The increased profits of protected employers have made them able to pay the laboring man higher wages no one can doubt, but it remains for the saving grace of Almighty God so to touch their hearts as to make them willing to pay the higher wages."

"Among the contributions that went to make up the monument that this great man, Grover Cleveland, built in the respect and affection of his countrymen, few are more striking than his almost instant recognition, as evidenced by the act of 1886, of the same and just demands of labor on the lawmaking power. Under him Democracy blazed the way and now remains the unflinching champion of every sound reform in this direction. Immunity from law we promise nobody. Immunity from oppression from its very infancy the Democratic party has been dedicated to establish and secure."

The Tariff

"The president and his party declare that a pre-election revision of the tariff would be unwise. This assertion has been repeated in advance of every election since the enactment of the Dingley law, and surely the country will not again be deceived by Republican promises to revise the tariff after the election. Their appeal to the people is this, 'give us another chance to make you a promise and the promise will be made.'"

"What does protection mean? Under the Republican policy of protection the people, the consumers, while paying a little over $300,000,000 per year into the treasury through import duties of foreign goods, pay over $1,250,000,000 a year in the enhanced price of home produced goods. Our domestic manufacturers exceed our total imports by ten to one and they are nearly all protected. It is safe to say that the people pay at least $5 to the already wealthy beneficiaries of protectionism for every dollar that is paid into the treasury. Behind the wall of high protection, which in some cases is also prohibitive, the trusts levy enormous tribute on the people. This has amounted to not less than $10,000,000,000 in the last decade, not counting the amount paid to support the government. This money has come from the pockets of the farmer, the mechanic, the merchant, the professional man and the laborer, and has been poured into the coffers of the protected classes. More than two-thirds of the capital that derives benefit from protectionism belongs to the trusts. The Democrats will revise the tariff downward and in the interest of the tax payers, who are always forgotten by the Republican party. There must be revision and a gradual reduction of the tariff by the friends of the tariff reduction for the common good, and not by the beneficiaries of its abuses, who justify use of the impost taxing power for the chief purpose of conferring privilege and profit upon the few at the expense of the many."

Trusts

"It is the shortest of steps from the tariff to the trusts. Let it be denied if they care to deny it, that the tariff is the real mother of the trusts. The president has made great pretense of destroying trusts. Let him tell of the result. In a message delivered to congress he said: 'The department of justice has for the last four years devoted more attention to the enforcement of anti-trust legislation than anything else. Much has been accomplished; particularly marked has been the moral effect of the prosecutions; but it is increasingly evident that there will be a very insufficiently beneficial result in the way of economic changes. The successful prosecution of one device to evade the law immediately develops another device to accomplish the same purpose. What is needed is not sweeping prohibition of every arrangement, good or bad, which might tend to restrict competition, but such adequate supervision and regulation as will prevent any restriction of competition from being to the detriment of the public, as well as such supervision and regulation as will prevent other abuses, in no way connected with restriction of competition.'"

"This is an admission of failure; and one does not need to dwell on this admission further than to say that the imprisonment of those who violate the law would have had a more salutary effect than all that has been done or might have been done in this direction during his entire administration.

"The Democratic party will strike down special privileges, whether granted through a high protective tariff, or granted to government chartered corporations by permission of law. All trusts owe their birth and their ability to continue existence to one or the other of these two forms of special privilege. No private monopoly, no business approximating private monopoly, in methods or in magnitude, can endure without one of the other."

The recent panic and the causes which led to the Aldrich bill were treated exhaustively, and a review given of the failures of congress to pass many important measures which were recommended by the president. Regarding the president's failure to call an extra session, Mr. Clayton pointed out that the Democratic leader of the house, authorized by all his party associates, repeatedly offered to support the measures, but that Republican support was not forthcoming, and that it was simply a play for Republican votes. Federal usurpation of power was severely scored in the following language:

"The president is upon an eminence. If he violates the law, men everywhere know it. If he does not himself respect it to the full extent, he robs it of the reverence that might be willingly bestowed by others. In this same overbearing spirit he has placed and kept in office men who were not appointed by and with the advice and consent of the senate. He has influenced or attempted to influence courts and juries in the administration of public justice, not only by deciding who should and who should not be prosecuted, but by making known his personal feelings or sympathies between the prosecution and the accused. He has scolded judges for their interpretations of the law. It was therefore timely and appropriate that the Republican party at Chicago should have declared that it 'will uphold at all times the authority and integrity of the courts.'"

"He has constantly cried out for more power on the part of the federal government at the expense of the powers reserved to the states. In his speech at Harrisburg, in October, 1906, he told of easy methods for increasing the power of the federal government. The method provided in the constitution was too cumbersome, slow and uncertain for him. There he lets the country into the secret of his short cut to increasing the federal power in these words: 'We need through judicial interpretation and construction, to increase the power of the federal government.'"

"Mr. Root, whom the president is said to have called, 'my secretary' followed this Harrisburg expression by a speech at New York, in which he said: 'Sooner or later construction will be found to vest power where it will be exercised by the national government.'"

"Of course many people are not surprised at any opinion the president utters; he has so many of them and has expressed them on so many conceivable and non-conceivable occasions. Now, Secretary Root is an able lawyer and a man of trained and deliberate habits of thought. Nothing shows more plainly the demoralization wrought by the president than the fact that this trained lawyer, in the very front rank of his great profession, should advocate changing the organic law of the union by construction to 'be found' and to 'be found' by whom? By the very men who are to exercise the power. The insidious proposition of Mr. Root, following up the suggestion of his chief, is that where authority is not granted, which, in the opinion of the executive, ought to have been granted, this authority is none the less to be exercised, and if no other basis for it can be had, it is to be based upon construction to 'be found.' In other words if the constitution has not conferred the power upon the executive, then the power is to be vested in him by construction to 'be found' in a way not provided for by the organic law of the Union."

"Representative institutions must be preserved, our federal government of delegated and limited powers must be maintained in all its constitutional vigor, and each state must be preserved with all of its reserve powers, and its integrity and autonomy for ever. Therein is the safety of the Union and the states, one indissoluble and the other indestructible."

Democratic Duty

"We know there is a brighter prospect, if the love of country and liberty is still strong in the hearts of the American people; if an oath to support the constitution is now considered by them as binding; if the people are in earnest in their protests against the rule of insolent wealth, the unauthorized and baleful influence of corporations and the exactions of the trusts; if the manliness of the fathers have been transmitted to the sons; and the fourth of next March will mark the advent of the Gladsome Light of Democracy and the beginning of the return to constitutional government honestly and economically administered. To the banner we raise here we invite all citizens of our common country who revere the nobler traditions of the past and who deplore the grave aberrations of the present. Let us see to it that this standard shall once again float over a government resting on lasting foundations."

"Mr. Chairman, delegates and fellow countrymen: The time and the occasion in our national affairs impose a duty we cannot, if we would, evade. We must go out from this hall with one heart and a determination to put our loved ship of state on an even keel. That keel has been too long beating the air. We must bring it down into the deep and abiding waters of the constitution."

NEW YORK, July 9.—There were enough new buying orders in the market at the opening to carry along the upward movement in early trading and in the first few minutes the prices of leading stocks made gains ranging from fractions to over one point.

Stocks again supplied in large blocks and before the end of the first half hour the selling pressure was heavy enough to force moderate reaction. At the end of the hour the majority of stocks were slightly below yesterday's closing. Government bonds firmer; others firmer.

ROW OVER HORSE AGAIN IN COURT

The Koblitz family row has again come into the courts, this time through the serving of a writ of replevin taken out by the father of Louis Koblitz. Some time ago, Louis Koblitz was sued by his sister, Lena Richter, for wages she alleged were due her. The case was tried before Judge Kleeber and judgment was rendered in favor of the plaintiff. At that time Louis Koblitz was living on the farm of his father. After the court had ordered him to pay his sister, he refused, with the result that a horse, supposed to belong to him was attached. When Joe Wauverla of the town of Washington went to get the horse it was refused, and it took seven men to procure the animal. Now Louis' father comes forth with the announcement that the horse belonged to him and not his son, and a writ of replevin was issued. Sheriff Chris Burns went out to get the horse from Constable Wauverla and after securing it left it in his care. The case will be heard before Police Justice Hunt today.

NEW LONDON, July 9.—Police officers and in the neighborhood of 200 armed men are in hot pursuit of what is thought to be the New London bank robbers. At 11 a. m. a telephone message was received at the city hall that three suspicious looking men were in the swamp near the Green Bay & Western railroad depot. Attention was attracted to the men by a call for help coming from the swamp, only a short distance from the railroad tracks.

FASCINATION FOR CRIME, IS CLAIM

KENOSHA, Wis., July 9.—The mystery surrounding the Chicago man who pleaded guilty to burglary in this city on Monday has been solved. The district attorney has discovered that the man is George Van Avery, a master shipbuilder of Chicago, who fascinated with crime, went into the country to commit burglary for the excitement of the chase.

This is not his first offense, as an examination of his record shows that he was sentenced to the state prison of Illinois for an indeterminate term from Aurora, Ill., in 1904. He was paroled in 1906 and had since been at liberty. The story of the man is an unusual one. He has one son in Chicago, a boy 16 years of age, and it was on account of this son that he gave his name as Frank Taylor and his place of residence at Milwaukee. After he had been sent to Joliet, Van Avery, through his son, then 14 years of age, made a plea for leniency to the Illinois state pardon board and the boy appeared in person before the board and pleaded for the release of his father, who was paroled to the son. The parole was made permanent only a short time ago, and Van Avery soon after that decided to make another flight into crime. The man is not aware that the officials have discovered the story of his life, and he will be given a chance to give a defense in the circuit court before he is sentenced. It is expected that Judge Belden will take the matter up tomorrow.

MARINETTE, Wis., July 9.—Clinging to an overturned sail boat for three hours three Marinette boys, George McDermott, Paul Halbach and Don Martindale, sons of well-known Marinette residents, were picked up just in time by a passing boat. They were nearly exhausted. Their boat capsized during a squall.

the three were beating the third with clubs. As the man being beaten saw help coming he exclaimed: "For God's sake help me."

One of the investigating party ran to his aid, but was attacked by the other two. At that he ran back to the depot, where a telephone message was sent to the city hall.

Sound General Alarm

A fire alarm was sounded to get men together to surround the swamp and cut off escape while the swamp was being searched. In a short time all the automobiles in the city were loaded with armed men and a run made for all sides of the swamp. The swamp is about three by five miles in size, but everything is being done to drive the suspects out.

LIFE SAVINGS ARE LOST IN CRASH

DEPERE—Wis., July 9.—"John Smith, bankrupt," means a great deal to many Hollanders in and around Depere, for they hold his notes to the amount of $25,000 without security. The notes are for amounts varying from $95 to $2,100.

Mr. Smith conducted a sort of private bank for the last twenty years, in addition to his real estate, insurance and collection business. He was reputed to be wealthy, and was trusted implicitly by large numbers of his countrymen. They not only loaned him their surplus money without security, but in many instances left the note with him for safekeeping.

It was his practice to pay a little more than the usual bank rate of 3 per cent, the supposition being that the money was reinvested in real estate mortgages. Not a single paper of that kind is found among the assets, which consist of real estate valued at not over $20,000, including his home, which is exempt.

COURTESY NEARLY COSTS HIS LIFE

NEENAH, Wis., July 9.—It cost Henry Gilbertson a broken shoulder bone and fractured arm to be courteous in a street car. Mr. Gilbertson gave up his seat to a lady, and in stepping to the running board, he fell from the car into a wire fence. He is in a precarious condition, blood poisoning having set in as a result of the wire cuts.
